ABOUT AASU

The All-Africa Students Union (AASU) is the umbrella organisation for all African students from the basic level to higher learning institutions and a very dominant force on the African Continent and beyond. With over 75 Member Unions across the Continent, AASU represents over 170 million students in Africa and the diaspora.

The Union is wholly student-run and student-led, autonomous, representative, and operates according to democratic principles.

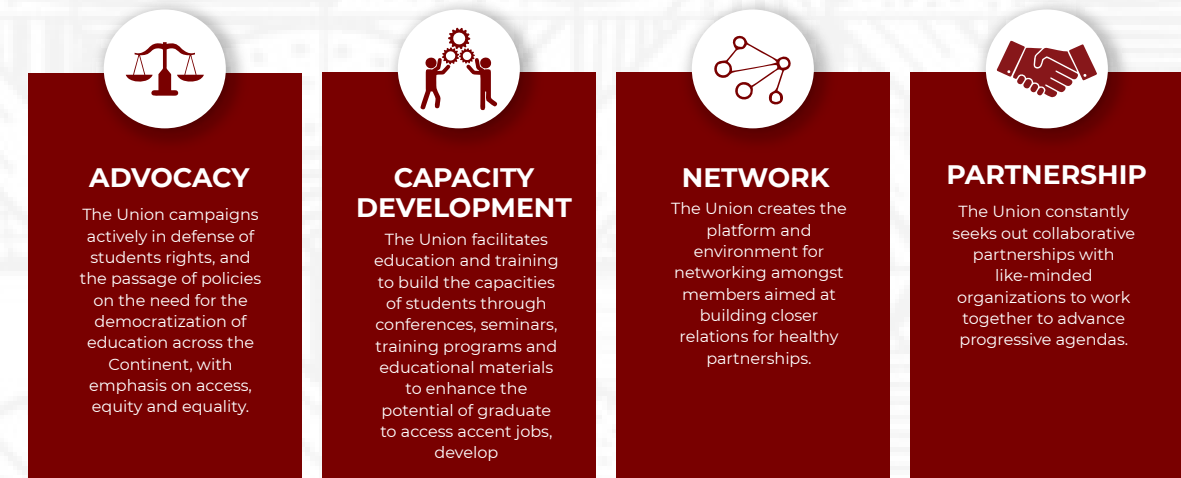

In the year 2000, the UN awarded AASU a certificate of merit in recognition of the Union's efforts at advancing students' rights and championing the democratization of education across the African Continent.

See: <http://www.un.org/press/en/2000/20000410.dev2241.doc.html>

The Union is wholly student-run and student-led, autonomous, representative, and operates according to democratic principles. The executives of the Union are democratically elected and representative of all the sub-regions across the Continent.

The All-Africa Students Union's key strength lies in its diversity and numerical strength (representing tens and millions of African Students), which it leverages as a bargaining tool to advocate for the supreme interests of students. The Union is made up of diverse students, regardless of their religion, gender, cultural background, political persuasion, ethnic origin, or social standing. The Union achieves its core mandate through:

Strategic Priority Areas of the Union

OVERVIEW OF 2026 THEME

For decades, the All-Africa Students Union (AASU) has stood as Africa's premier and most influential umbrella student movement. Our foundational mission, to champion education equity, youth empowerment, and transformative policy, has positioned us at the very heart of continental development dialogues. As a trusted continental voice, AASU has consistently advanced the Continental Education Strategy for Africa (CESA) by ensuring that students' perspectives are not peripheral, but integral to the design, implementation, and accountability of education reforms. From convening and contributing to high-level discussions on the sidelines of the AU Heads of State Summit and the Africa Skills Week to supporting youth-focused continental initiatives, including the African Youth Summit, the HAQAA Initiative, and climate-transformative education engagements, AASU has demonstrated consistent leadership in positioning students as agents of change.

Against this background, AASU advances a renewed strategic focus as Africa transitions from CESA 2016–2025 to CESA 2026–2035. Building on the achievements and lessons of the past decade, AASU has adopted “Students Leading CESA 2026–2035: Sustainable, Resilient, and Innovative Education for Africa's Future” as the theme for 2026. The theme signals AASU's enduring commitment to CESA while sharpening its emphasis on sustainability, resilience, and innovation as defining imperatives for the next decade. As education systems confront overlapping pressures, climate disruptions, conflict and displacement, public health risks, rapid technological change, and evolving labour markets, AASU underscores the urgency of education reforms that safeguard learning continuity, expand inclusion, and equip learners with relevant 21st-century competencies.

CESA 2026–2035 provides a critical framework for accelerating progress, but implementation must be more student-centred, more accountable, and more resilient to shocks.

In this new era, students must be recognised not merely as beneficiaries of policy decisions, but as active participants, leaders, and partners in shaping solutions, whether in strengthening quality assurance, expanding digital learning, greening education, or advancing education in emergencies. AASU therefore commits to elevating student agency as a strategic asset: to influence priorities, track delivery, and catalyse practical innovations that respond to lived realities across diverse African contexts.

THROUGH THE 2026 THEME, AASU SEEKS TO:

- Amplify student voices to influence education policies and priorities at national, regional, and continental levels, including within CESA 2026–2035 coordination and review platforms.
- Advocate for student-centred approaches that advance equity, gender inclusion, and access to quality, safe, and relevant education for all learners, particularly those most marginalised.
- Highlight and strengthen the role of students in addressing emerging priorities, especially digitalisation and responsible innovation, greening and climate-resilient education, and education in emergencies, so education systems can withstand shocks and sustain progress.

AASU remains committed to fostering high-impact partnerships among governments, educational institutions, development agencies, the private sector, civil society, and student bodies to advance the goals of CESA 2026–2035. By empowering students as key stakeholders and accountable change agents, Africa can build resilient and inclusive education systems that prepare learners for the risks and opportunities of a rapidly changing world.

KEY OBJECTIVES / TARGETS

Strengthen the capacity of student leaders and unions to undertake evidence-based advocacy, policy engagement, and social accountability at local, national, and continental levels in support of CESA 2026–2035.

Organise national-level student consultations to assess progress, identify barriers, and generate actionable recommendations for governments and stakeholders.

Convene platforms (forums, workshops, roundtables) to capture, synthesise, and integrate students' perspectives into CESA 2026–2035 implementation and monitoring.

Support skills and innovation programmes that equip students with 21st-century competencies, including digital literacy, AI awareness and application, green skills, and technical and entrepreneurial capabilities aligned to labour market needs.

Collaborate with governments, institutions, development partners, and civil society to implement student-driven initiatives that address systemic challenges, with measurable outputs and shared accountability.
