FOREWORD

The 14th Elective Congress of the All-Africa Students Union (AASU) was held in accordance with the Constitution of the Union to elect its Executive Committee and Secretariat and to secure an orderly transition of leadership. As the highest decision-making forum of the Union, the Congress provided the formal mechanism through which member unions exercised their collective mandate to renew AASU's leadership and reaffirm its continental governance framework for the 2026-2029 term.

In recent years, the operating environment for student organisations across Africa has grown more demanding. Financial pressures, uneven civic space, and the evolving nature of higher education have placed new expectations on student leadership at every level. Within this context, the task before AASU was straightforward but weighty: to renew its leadership without compromising institutional legitimacy, and to do so in a manner consistent with its constitutional values.

The processes leading to the 14th Elective Congress were therefore approached with deliberation. Decisions were guided by the need to safeguard transparency, fairness, and procedural discipline. Where constraints arose, they were addressed within the framework of the Union's rules rather than through expedient shortcuts. In this respect, the Congress reaffirmed an important principle - that AASU's strength lies not merely in its history, but in its continued commitment to order, accountability, and collective decision-making.

This Congress also took place against a moment of profound loss to our Union. In the course of this Congress cycle, we were hit with the passing of Comrade Varney Alieu Jarsey, President of AASU, whose service, conviction, and Pan-African spirit shaped an important chapter of our institutional journey. Comrade Varney embodied the idea of a student movement that is principled but practical, bold but disciplined. His absence was felt deeply across the Congress process. We honour him not merely with words, but by ensuring that the Union he served continues to stand.

I extend my appreciation to the member unions that remained engaged throughout the Congress process, to the Electoral Commission for the professionalism with which it discharged its mandate, and to the Secretariat staff whose steadiness ensured continuity under demanding circumstances. Their collective efforts made it possible for the Union to complete this transition with credibility intact.

I also congratulate the newly elected Executive Committee and Secretariat and wish them wisdom and resolve as they assume responsibility for guiding AASU through the 2026-2029 term. The work ahead is substantial, but so too is the opportunity to consolidate the Union and advance the interests of African students in a changing continental and global landscape.

In service to Africa's students,

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

This report provides a comprehensive account of the planning process, governance framework, accreditation procedures, and electoral outcomes of the 14th Elective Congress of the All-Africa Students Union (AASU).

The Congress cycle commenced formally with the issuance of a Call for Bids to Host the 14th Elective Congress on 10 January 2025, inviting member unions to submit proposals demonstrating readiness and capacity to host the Congress in accordance with AASU's institutional and logistical requirements. While interest was recorded, no submission met the minimum standard of completeness and operational assurance required to proceed confidently with a physical host arrangement within the available timelines. In response, and in order to protect the credibility of the process and avoid avoidable institutional risk, AASU adopted a virtual Congress model, consistent with evolving digital governance approaches and the realities of member union constraints.

The elections of the 14th Elective Congress were conducted under formal oversight of the AASU Executive Committee, which approved the Electoral Guidelines, Electoral Calendar, and the composition of an independent Electoral Commission. Voting was conducted online through a secure digital voting platform, with access restricted to duly accredited delegates from eligible member organisations.

Due to the central constitutional requirement on financial standing, the elections were implemented in two phases. At the close of nominations, only seven candidates nominated for seven out of the eighteen positions were in good standing, as their nominating member unions had fully settled membership dues and financial obligations to the Union. Rather than compromise constitutional discipline or disenfranchise unions working to regularise their status, AASU proceeded with elections for the seven portfolios while providing a structured window for other member unions to complete compliance processes and validate the eligibility of their nominees for the eleven remaining positions.

Phase I elections were conducted on 22 November 2025, and Phase II elections were conducted on 15 December 2025, each within a 24-hour voting window. The conclusion of Phase II resulted in the full constitution of AASU's Executive Committee and Secretariat for the 2026-2029 term, reflecting broad continental representation and reaffirming the Union's institutional continuity.

1.0 INTRODUCTION

The All-Africa Students Union (AASU) is the recognised continental umbrella body representing students across Africa and the diaspora, mandated to advance students' rights, welfare, unity, and participation in Africa's development and education transformation agenda.

In line with the AASU Constitution and established governance tradition, Congress remains the Union's supreme democratic mechanism for leadership renewal. The 14th Elective Congress was convened to elect officers to steer the affairs of AASU for the 2026-2029 leadership term, ensure institutional continuity, and uphold the Union's legitimacy as a continental representative structure for African students.

While Congress historically includes broad deliberation and resolutions, the 14th Elective Congress was structured primarily around the constitutional necessity of conducting elections, ensuring that AASU's leadership mandate would be renewed within a credible, orderly, and constitutionally compliant process.

2.0 CONGRESS PLANNING AND HOSTING PROCESS

2.1 Call for Bids to Host Congress (10 January 2025)

On 10 January 2025, AASU formally issued a Call for Bids to Host the 14th Elective Congress to member unions. The call outlined expected deliverables including venue readiness, accommodation planning, delegate welfare, security coordination, local transportation, and demonstrable funding capacity consistent with the stature and diplomatic sensitivity of an AASU elective congress.

2.2 Review of Bids and Decision to Convene a Virtual Congress

Following the bid window, proposals received did not sufficiently meet the standard required for a high-stakes continental congress. In particular, submissions lacked adequate detail in key areas such as funding guarantees. In order to prevent delay and ensure equal participation across member unions, AASU adopted a virtual congress approach, anchored in structured accreditation and secure online elections.

2.3 Virtual Congress Modality and Operational Considerations

The virtual model was designed to ensure:

- a. Equal participation regardless of geography and travel constraints.
- b. Reduced financial burden on member unions and the Union.
- c. Clear access control and traceable accreditation.
- d. Timely leadership renewal without compromising procedure.

3.0 GOVERNANCE OVERSIGHT AND INSTITUTIONAL APPROVALS

3.1 Executive Committee Oversight

An Executive Committee meeting was convened on 6 September 2025 to provide formal institutional oversight and authorisation for the conduct of the 14th Elective Congress elections, including the approval of the election framework, calendar, and governance instruments.

3.2 Approval of Electoral Instruments and Calendar

The Executive Committee approved the foundational instruments for the elections, including:

- a. Roadmap to elections with key dates
- b. Call for nominations and nomination procedures
- c. Electoral Guidelines for the 14th Elective Congress
- d. Electoral Calendar
- e. Nomination forms and eligibility requirements
- f. Composition of the Electoral Commission

3.3 Establishment of the Electoral Commission

An independent Electoral Commission comprising the following members was constituted and mandated to supervise nominations, validate eligibility, manage the voting process, address electoral issues, collate results, and formally declare the results:

- Ms. Angel Mbuthia - Chairperson (Kenya)
- Mr. Bismark Amefianu Kudoafor - Secretary (Ghana)
- Mr. Olamide Odumosu - Member (Nigeria)
- Mr. Duchel Kinouani - Member (Congo-Brazzaville)
- Ms. Mariam Gamal - Member (Egypt)

4.0 CONGRESS ORGANISING STRUCTURE

4.1 Secretariat Coordination and Technical Support

The AASU Secretariat served as the administrative backbone for the Congress process, providing coordination across communications, accreditation support, nominations correspondence, and liaison support to the Electoral Commission.

4.2 Communications, Member Union Engagement and Helpdesk

A structured communications approach was adopted, using official AASU channels to issue notices, clarify procedures, resolve member union questions, and support delegates with voting access and compliance requirements.

5.0 DELEGATES AND ACCREDITATION

5.1 Accreditation Framework

In accordance with established rules, procedures, and constitutional practice of the All-Africa Students Union (AASU), each of the 54 African countries is represented at Congress through one recognised member union. Where a Full Member Union exists in a country, that union serves as the sole representative of the country. In instances where no Full Member Union exists, the recognised Associate Member Union assumes this representative role.

On this basis, a total of fifty-four (54) member unions - one from each of the fifty-four (54) countries - were eligible for representation and participation in the electoral process of the 14th Elective Congress, corresponding to AASU's continental membership structure.

Accordingly, official notices were issued by the Electoral Commission to each recognised Full Member Union – or Associate Member Union, as applicable – requesting the nomination of one accredited delegate to participate in the Congress and the elections. Accreditation was a prerequisite for access to voting credentials and participation in all electoral processes.

At the close of the accreditation period, thirty-four (34) countries' member unions had formally nominated accredited delegates in line with the issued guidelines. The final Register of Delegates for the 14th Elective Congress was therefore compiled on the basis of these thirty-four (34) accredited delegates, who constituted the eligible voting body for the elections conducted under the Congress.

5.2 Issuance of Voting Credentials

Accredited delegates received controlled access credentials to the digital voting platform. This ensured that voting remained restricted to eligible participants and that integrity safeguards could be applied.

6.0 NOMINATIONS

6.1 Call for Nominations and Portfolios Advertised

Following approvals, a formal call for nominations was issued, listing all Executive Committee and Secretariat portfolios available for the 2026-2029 term.

6.2 Verification of Eligibility and Close of Nominations

Upon close of nominations, the Secretariat and Electoral Commission verified documentation and compliance for nominees and their nominating unions.

6.3 Financial Good Standing at Close of Nominations (Key Constraint)

At the close of nominations, only seven (7) candidates were confirmed to be in good standing, as their nominating member unions had fully paid dues and settled outstanding obligations to the Union.

Rather than compromise constitutional requirements or create procedural ambiguity, AASU adopted a sequenced approach where it proceeded with elections for portfolios for which candidates had been nominated by member organisations in good financial standing while allowing additional time for other member unions to regularise their standing and validate the eligibility of their nominated candidates for remaining portfolios.

7.0 CONGRESS PROCEEDINGS

7.1 Opening of the 14th Elective Congress

The Congress was formally convened virtually, with accredited delegates briefed on the electoral framework, rules of engagement, voting process, and timelines.

7.2 Adoption of the Electoral Framework and Briefings

The Electoral Commission provided procedural briefings, including voting windows, access rules, and the mechanism for addressing technical concerns.

8.0 ELECTIONS

8.1 Mode of Voting and Digital Platform

Voting was conducted entirely online using a secure digital voting system, designed to support confidential balloting, controlled access, and transparent collation.

8.2 Election Phasing Rationale and Constitutional Compliance

The elections were implemented in two phases to uphold constitutional requirements on financial good standing, avoid procedural disputes, and provide a fair compliance window for member unions with pending obligations.

8.3 Phase I Elections - 22 November 2025

Phase I was conducted on Saturday, 22 November 2025, from 12:00 AM to 11:59 PM (GMT), covering portfolios with eligible nominees confirmed in good standing at the close of nominations.

8.4 Phase II Elections - 15 December 2025

Following compliance updates and confirmation of eligibility for additional portfolios, Phase II was conducted on Monday, 15 December 2025, from 12:00 AM to 11:59 PM (GMT) to fill outstanding positions.

8.5 Collation, Validation and Declaration of Results

Upon the close of each voting window, votes were collated, verified, and the results declared formally by the Electoral Commission in accordance with the approved guidelines.

10.0 CONCLUSION

The 14th Elective Congress of the All-Africa Students Union (AASU) was successfully convened and concluded through a structured, constitutionally compliant process anchored in transparency, access control, and institutional oversight.

Beginning with the Call for Bids to host the Congress on 10 January 2025 and culminating in the completion of Phase II elections on 15 December 2025, the Congress cycle reflected AASU's commitment to democratic governance under real continental constraints. The successful constitution of the Executive Committee and Secretariat for the 2026-2029 term reaffirms the Union's institutional continuity and readiness to deepen its mandate across Africa and the diaspora.
